SERENISSIMA

PIETRA DI PORTLAND

A natural treasure shielded by an enchanting yet troubled land, its high wind-buffeted cliffs separating the blue sea from the green landscape, Portland stone is extracted from the English island bearing the same name and has been used for centuries as a building material. Today, with the Pietra di Portland collection, Serenissima porcelain stoneware brings the refined weave pattern of the material of inspiration, minimalist enough to resemble aesthetics of concrete, to the material palette dedicated to contemporary design.

Pietra di Portland focuses on neutral and bright shades – Bianco, Sabbia, Greige – that are perfectly suited to defining the personality of interior spaces, in residential and public settings, and for enhancing outdoor areas where the elegance must be combined with functional and safety needs. The range includes three surface finishes, to meet different technical and style needs: the natural finish, which enhances the minimal chromatic variations and the peculiar texture of the product, the lapped finish featuring a soft gleam dedicated to interior design, and the R11 finish, specifically designed for outdoor use, also available in 2 cm thick sizes.

The collection is completed by a line of decorations to further enhance the beauty of natural stone through the materiality of industrial ceramics. Pietra di Portland features the Cannettato variant, in the practical 60x120 cm size, and two mosaics, the classic one with 5x5 cm square tiles and the more eclectic Mosaico Esagona, to be used tone on tone or to create exquisite contrasts that highlight architectural volumes.
