

FOSSIL

Fossil, the new project from Serenissima, enriches the material language of modern design with a selection of rare and precious stones, forged by nature and jealously guarded for millennia. Fossil stones exercise an extraordinary fascination for modern eyes, unveiling colours, nuances and subtle veins which recount an ancient world which is still present and discoverable in its authenticity.

The Fossil collection unveils the contrasting natures of the original material: versatile and welcoming in the natural finish, luxurious and eclectic in the polished finish. The two surface finishes of Fossil enhance the special qualities of the colours the collection proposes, four eclectic neutral tones which supplement current fashions in a highly original manner.

The rich detailing of Fossil textures is particularly evident in the large sizes Serenissima has dedicated to the collection, starting with 80x180 cm large tiles and the 100x100 cm lux finish size, down to more conventional modular sizes, also available in the natural finish, which enable a vast range of installation layouts. The series also includes mosaics and refined decorative solutions, based on the combination of diverse surface finishes, for use in residential, public and commercial spaces where they give a new importance to architectonic volumes and structures.
